World Famous Bullfighter's Career Began In High School Rodeo

Bozeman, MT— Loyd Ketchum began his rodeo career in eastern Montana at an early age and then kept with it into High School and College. Loyd said “High School Rodeo prepared him for College and was a learning tool for life.” In High School he roped and rode, participating in every boy event except bareback riding.

Loyd got his PRCA card in 1987 and continues working as a Professional Bullfighter. Loyd is looking forward to working this State High School Finals Rodeo, “It will be fun to come back to High School Rodeo and help the young kids.” He would like to encourage these young athletes to, “Study hard and stay away from drugs and alcohol.” “I have seen a lot of great talent wasted because of drugs and alcohol.” Other than that “Have Fun and Stay Safe.” For more information on Loyd, visit his web site at www.loydketchum.com.

Come to the 2009 Montana State High School Rodeo Finals in Bozeman, Mt; June 10 – 14th at the Gallatin County Fairgrounds and see Loyd in action. He will also be available for Autographs.
